Eastern Star Bake Sale

The Eastern Star is having its annual pecan/baked goods sale on Oct. 8 from 9 a.m. to noon in the parking lot next to Eller Tire Shop.

Come out and support the Stars by purchasing your pecans and or baked goodies. Your support enables the Eastern Star to continue with donations to the Food Pantry Back Pack Snack Program and provide a scholarship for a Towns County High School graduating senior. That's just a few good causes to name a few good causes of active Star Projects.

The Stars look forward to seeing everyone on Oct. 8.

Brubaker at the helm of The Goats movie

By Charles Duncan

Jim Brubaker doesn't get caught up in titles.

After all, the legendary film producer has had his share after more than five decades in the film industry.

Brubaker, has spent 20 years as president of physical production at Universal Studios, he's acted, produced and edited motion pictures.

Born in Hollywood in 1937, Brubaker, 74, got his start in the business as a transportation captain. He credits John Wayne with helping him break into the business. Brubaker served as transportation coordinator on Cahill: U.S. Marshal in 1973.

Today, he's in Hiawassee and ready to help director D.J. Caruso complete the latter's dream project, an adaptation of Brock Cole's The Goats.

"The area is so beautiful, I would move here if I could," Brubaker said, referring to the scenic mountains and Lake Chatuge here in Towns County. "I'm very excited about this film because it's something that my grandkids can watch. It's going to be a great movie."

Filming is expected to begin on Monday, Oct. 3 and last through Friday. The production schedule includes two days filming at Towns County Beach (Monday and Tuesday) and at Cable Island (Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday).

Brubaker says Georgia, which has become a movie industry hot bed, is learning a valuable lesson from the movie industry.

"The movie industry is leaving California," he said.

Summer's Last Kiss a beauty

Weather for Fourth Annual event couldn't have been more perfect

Summer came and went over the weekend as fall finally arrived.

However, tourists and locals alike were still smiling on Monday; Summer's Last Kiss was an event to remember.

Artists made money, tourists went home happy and the locals are looking forward to the Fifth Annual event in 2012.

"I think it went well," Towns County Sole Commissioner Bill Kendall said. "Everybody has worked together to make this a success.

Mother Nature couldn't have painted a more beautiful landscape on Saturday and Sunday, said local artist Deb Collins.

"It's been absolutely fabulous; the weather was perfection, we couldn't have ordered it any better," she said. "This is our fourth year and I think this is the best turnout we've ever had. Word of mouth increases the numbers year-in, year out as more and more people find out about this festival.

"We've had a lot of people that just happened to be passing through town that have stopped in and enjoyed themselves," she said. "People are discovering the square, they're stopping and buying local art and that's just great."

The Georgia Mountain Fairgrounds' Fall Festival has fun and entertainment for children of all ages.

New this year will be Water Treaders, where participants actually crawl inside a six-foot high ball and tread on water.

The concept is to tread on as much water as possible, while inside the ball.

"The balls are great entertainment for all seasons without getting wet," Fairgrounds General Manager Hilda Thomason said. "They are also great exercise to build up strength, balance, and endurance as well as lots of fun."

Kids will be walking on water at the Fall Festival Oct. 7-15. New events include live statues, stilt walkers and alligators.

Qualifying begins for Senate District 50

Quest to replace State Sen. Jim Butterworth begins Oct. 3

By Charles Duncan
Towns County Herald

Georgia Secretary of State Brian Kemp has set qualifying for Jim Butterworth's Senate District 50 seat for Oct. 3, 4 and 5.

Qualifying on Monday will run from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.; on Tuesday from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.; and on Wednesday from 8 a.m. until noon.

Candidates will qualify in the Elections Division of the Office of Secretary of State, 802 West Tower, 2 Martin Luther King, Jr. Drive, SE, Atlanta, Georgia 30334.

Qualifying fee is $400. Two men have already stepped up to the plate to try and fill the unexpired term of Sen. Butterworth, who accepted the post of adjutant general of the Georgia National Guard earlier this month.

As Butterworth assumes those duties on Oct. 2, the following day, expect State Rep. Rick Austin, R-Demorest and John Wilkinson, of Toccoa to qualify for the post.

Both men were in Hiawassee earlier this month to announce their candidacy for Senate District 50 during the monthly Towns County Republican Party meeting at Daniel's Steakhouse in Hiawassee.

No other candidates have stepped up since and it's unclear if any other candidates will toss their hats into the Senate District 50 race.

Senate District 50 includes Banks, Franklin, Habersham, Hart, Rabun, Stephens and Towns counties and a portion of White County.

The election is a non-
